Gain new visibility into your telecoms spend

Enterprises today can no longer afford to bear unnecessary costs. But if you are managing a large telecoms estate over multiple sites or countries, it can be very difficult to detect which of the lines, calls, or other services on your bill are redundant or unwanted.

Telecoms Expense Management

from eircom UK lets you see what you're spending, and where, so you can control costs and ensure optimal utilisation of your telecoms budget. This service is the ideal tool for managers needing to demonstrate opportunities for cost savings, or to save time now spent on manual, labour-intensive analyses of a complex telecoms estate.

This service provides you with visibility over your entire estate and enables you to implement immediate, medium and long term Telecoms Expense Management cost saving initiatives across your voice infrastructure.

eircom UK's expertise in commercial consultancy services is built on an informed balance between business analysis, cost control, billing and vendor management, and experience of the technology, commercial and operational issues that lie behind the figures. This range of capabilities has led to an approach that combines software solutions, market knowledge, financial analysis, and prescriptive management reporting, delivering effective cost reduction solutions that are achievable and measurable.
